The story so far

Nottingham gained its permanent designation as a UNESCO Creative City in December 2015. We are proudly committed to the UN's 2030 Agenda. This is an international plan of action focussed on people, the planet and prosperity. It outlines a vision for a more sustainable future, one that is equitable, inclusive, peaceful, and environmentally friendly.

By joining the UNESCO network of Creative Cities, Nottingham has gained significant influence and raised its international profile.

We can access experience, expertise and information from other Creative Cities and use this as a source and force for the development of the city.

Membership of the UNESCO Creative Cities Network enables Nottingham to engage more effectively with influential stakeholders to further the UN's 2030 Agenda and Nottingham's mission of building a more literate, inclusive and sustainable city.

“Reading for pleasure is the single most important thing that will make a child successful.”

UNESCO

It is vital that Nottingham continues to work with cities around the world to further our mutual objectives.

We will collaborate on projects that improve literacy, promote gender equality, and drive greater social mobility, all of which are key areas for Nottingham.

Become a UNESCO Circle sponsor

Nottingham needs to make more of its UNESCO designation, and we need your help. Please become a partner in our continuing story and help shape the long term future of our city.

We are asking a small group of sponsors to commit to an annual financial contribution in return for a deeper engagement with the UNESCO designation.

If you are passionate about supporting and celebrating a city dedicated to improving literacy and building a better world through our projects, campaigns and events, become a UNESCO Circle Sponsor for a 3-year commitment of £3,000* a year.

Donate and help us continue our work

In return, we will offer each UNESCO Circle Sponsor:

- Association with the UNESCO brand and logo.
- Your profile on our UNESCO City of Literature website and promotional materials.
- Creative experiences including the annual UNESCO lecture, and literary lunches and dinners with high-profile speakers.
- Access to world-class creative talent for inspiring talks.
- Access to a network of international creative cities.
